

Terms and Conditions

CONFIDENTIALITY, CLOSED SESSIONS

The SPP takes an inclusive approach to its events, so that non-Members are generally welcome to attend. However, the SPP reserves the right to limit attendance at any session for safety, professional, confidentiality or organisational reasons. Present plans are to limit attendance to SPP Members only at a small number of sessions which will be clearly indicated.

CONFIDENTIAL MATERIAL

Any confidential material must be anonymised in such a comprehensive way that if patients were reading about themselves in a paper, or listening to a recording of the presentation or discussion, they would be unable to identify themselves. It should not be assumed that because, for example, this event is taking place on another continent that a patient's confidentiality is somehow of less fundamental importance. In purchasing a ticket for this event you are agreeing to keep confidential any such material that you see or hear; further, should you inadvertently identify, directly or indirectly, a patient's name, that you undertake not to break the obligation you have implicitly given in respect to that patient's confidentiality. You will also be asked to reconfirm this in any clinical session.

If you attend a session in which clinical material is being presented and discussed and you think that you recognise the identity of the patient, you should protect the patient's confidentiality by quietly leaving the remainder of that session.

Special care must be taken to avoid conversations about clinical material in any public place. Emails and internet postings involving clinical material should be absolutely avoided.

Attendance at the meeting is dependent upon your agreement to maintain confidentiality.

CANCELLATION AND REFUNDS

Notice of cancellation must be in writing by email sppsicanalise2013@gmail.com

The amount refunded will depend on the date when the cancellation is received by the SPP:

- If notice is received by 6 November 2019, the SPP will refund the registration fees less an administration charge of €20 per registration.
- If notice is received after 6 November 2019 no refunds of registration fees will be made for any cancellation.

LIABILITY AND INSURANCE

The SPP is not responsible for the safety of any transportation or facility, or for any personal injuries or illness, or losses or damage to the property of event participants or those accompanying them, whether arising before, during or after the event, and whether related to professional, organisational or social events, tours or meetings. The SPP strongly recommends that you carry appropriate insurance for medical, injury, travel, baggage and other property, cancellation (however caused) and other risks.

RIGHT OF REFUSAL

The SPP reserves the right to decline to register any individual, without further explanation. Participants who, in the opinion of the SPP, behave inappropriately will be required to leave the event premises immediately, their event registration will be cancelled and their registration fee will be forfeited. Access to any other event-related activities (such as the Dinner) may also be denied, although any payments received for those will be refunded minus €20 administration fee in each instance. Event registration and tickets are strictly personal to the individual who purchased them and are non-transferable under any circumstances. Anybody who transfers an identity badge to another person will have their badge withdrawn and their registration cancelled without refund.

FILMING AND PHOTOGRAPHY AT THE CONGRESS

Unless prior written consent has been obtained from the SPP Vice President which explicitly permits filming and/or photography, filming and/or photography are not permitted in any event session or in any event venue including the lobbies, corridors and in the vicinity of the hotels and event meeting rooms and sessions. Any person who films and/or photographs without prior written consent will be removed from the event, their registration will be cancelled and no refund will be offered for any part of the registration fee paid.

For further information please contact sppsicanalise2013@gmail.com